40639 Adkins, Roy - Nelson's Trafalgar

Viking, New York 2005. Hardcover. First American Edition. Fine in Fine dust jacket.

"Roy Adkins evokes the unsurpassed violence of nineteenth century naval warfare. For more than five hours, sixty ships fought at close quarters as their occupants struggled under the constant barrage of cannon and musket fire, amid choking fumes and ear-splitting explosions." Nelson was severely outgunned, but the quicker and more disciplined British gunners carried the day despite their Admiral's death. An account of the naval battle that dashed Napoleon's dreams of conquering England and set the British on course for their great Empire.

$10.00

40645 Adkins, Roy; Adkins, Leslie - The War for all the Oceans: From Nelson at the Nile to Napoleon at Waterloo

Penguin, New York 2007. Softcover. Near Fine.

A superb account of the naval war that lasted from 1798-1812. "Provides a ringside seat to the decisive battles as well as vivid portraits of sailors and commanders, press-gangs, prostitutes, and spies."

$8.50

40652 Asprey, Robert - The Rise Of Napoleon Bonaparte

Basic Books, New York 2000. Hardcover. First Edition. Near Fine in Near Fine dust jacket.

The first volume of a two volume biography of Napoleon. "Asprey's central and telling argument is that Napoleon was not the father of chaos, as his detractors would have us believe. Rather, he was heir to the chaos both at home and abroad. A child of the French Revolution, he grew to become its master, exploiting the national will for what he believed the national good."

$14.00

40638 Best, Nicholas - Trafalgar: The Untold Story of the Greatest Sea Battle in History

George Weidenfeld & Nicholson, London 2005. Hardcover. First Edition. Near Fine in Near Fine dust jacket.

From the jacket flap: "Nicholas Best recreates the terrible tension and uncertainty of the naval campaign that led to the most famous sea fight in history." "A gripping minute by minute account of the most famous sea battle in history."

$15.00

39685 Bowden, Scott; Tarbox, Charles - Armies on the Danube 1809

Emperor's Press, Chicago 1989. Hardcover. Fine in Near Fine dust jacket.

Book is Fine, bound in blue leatherette with gilt titles. Near Fine dustjacket with no major flaws. Minor rubbing/shelf wear to edges of DJ. No internal markings of any kind. Ten maps. Many illustrations and Orders of Battle. Introduction by General Porret - Chief of Historical Section of the Ground Forces of the French Army - stating the authors used the French and Austrian Archives for their research. "Therefore, this volume furnishes to the American reader a very useful first hand documentation of the 1809 war." Book appears unread. Expanded and Revised edition.

$100.00

39937 Boycott-Brown, Martin - The Road to Rivoli: Napoleon's First Campaign

Cassell, London 2001. Hardcover. Near Fine in Near Fine dust jacket.

"In the spring of 1796 the 26-year-old Napoleon took command of the Army of Italy - a collection of some 60,000 ill-fed, poorly-clothed and disillusioned men. He had never even served through a whole campaign, nor been involved in a major battle, much less conducted one as the commander of an army. Yet within just two months he and his scarecrow army had knocked the Piedmontese out of the war."

$50.00

39712 Bruce, Robert B. & Iain Dickie & Kevin Kiley & Michael F. Pavkovic & Frederick C. Schneid - Fighting Techniques of the Napoleonic Age 1792 - 1815: Equipment, Combat Skills, and Tactics

$20.00

40647 Davies, David - Fighting Ships: Ships of the Line and Napoleonic Sea Battles 1793-1815

Robinson, London 2002. Softcover. New.

"From 1793 to 1815 were the years of the Napoleonic Wars - a period of change and upheaval comparable to the World Wars of the twentieth century. This is the story of one of the keys of that conflict, the Ship of the Line - the beautiful but deadly battleships that waged the war at sea. There are accounts of the ships, their construction and armaments, the daily life of the men, and the problems faced by commanders, in battles that included the Glorious First of June and Trafalgar."

$7.00

39814 Dempsey Jr., Guy C. - Napoleon's Mercenaries: Foreign Units in the French Army Under the Consulate and Empire, 1799-1814

Greenhill Books, London 2002. Hardcover. Fine in Fine dust jacket.

"Napoleon's Mercenaries examines each non-French unit in turn, giving an overview of the unit's origins, its organisational and combat history, its uniforms and standards, and details of the unit's eventual fate."

$40.00

40636 Dwyer, Philip - Napoleon: The Path to Power 1769-1799

Bloomsbury, London 2007. Hardcover. First Edition. Fine in Fine dust jacket.

From the jacket flap. "Napoleon Bonaparte's rise to power was neither inevitable nor smooth; it was full of mistakes, wrong turns and pitfalls. Philip Dwyer's expansive study sheds new light on the darker aspects of Napoleon's character - his brooding obsessions and potential for violence - and also his passionate nature: his loves, his ability to inspire others and the capacity to realise his visionary ideas."

$17.00

39264 Elting, John R. - Napoleonic Uniforms Volume 1

Macmillan Library Reference, New York 1993. Hardcover. First Edition. Fine in Near Fine dust jacket.

40582 Pivka, Otto Von - Napoleon's Polish Troops

Osprey Books, New York 1974. Softcover. First Edition. Very Good.

This is title number 23 in Osprey's Men-At-Arms series. Tanning to covers, inside text and color plates are clean and bright. On November 25, 1795 Poland was conquered by Prussia, Russia, and Austria and split up among the three. France, the only major European country to oppose the partition of Poland, became the natural destination for Polish refugees. General Jean-Henri Dombrowski formed the Polish Legion with Napoleon's aid. Because French law prohibited foreign troops on French soil, the Polish Legion was sent to Lombardi, to help protect Napoleon's newly won territories. The Legion grew in size and took part in the assault on Verona and the suppression of the insurrection at Reggio.
